DEDICATION

To show our appreciation, we the class of 1962 wish to dedicate this yearbook to our parents for their guidance and help in preparing us for the years which lie ahead.

FACULTY

Dear Seniors:

"These are the times that try men's souls," wrote Thomas Paine in 1776. He further wrote of America, "Her situation is remote from all the wrangling world." Yet the philosophy he expressed in the "Rights of Man" was quite suitable to our times:

"The world is my country.
All mankind are my brethren."

Without doubt the Revolutionary War years were difficult. Not less trying were the Civil War years of the following century of which Senior Year is a centennial. What of 1962? Berlin is divided as are other cities. Palestine is divided as are other countries. Many families are split. Ideologies such as communism and democracy line nations against nations. These, too, are times that try men's souls.

Always there have been people unequal to the times in which they lived, sick souls who fled from responsibility. But trying times can be perceived in many ways ranging from calamitous to challenging. In 1776 some Americans achieved the birth of our nation; in 1862 others spared us its partition. In 1962 the Thomas Paines are working for world peace. Great men and women seem almost to mold the times to their purpose. One wonders if any other time but his own might have been as productive to Shakespeare, Charlemagne, Washington, Lincoln, Pasteur, or Ghandi. The present time seems full of opportunity for service. Please forgive me this bragging, but our present seniors seem equal to their times. I wish each of you well.

Sincerely,

Raymond V. Scheck

Mr. Ernst, you're not cooperating.

Grades can't be that funny.

Why even Kennedy gives coffee breaks!

"And then they took Marie Antoinette to the guillotine."

Why doesn't he pay attention!

Ah ! ! ! Seniors at last!

Trapped in the lab?

Tell us another one, Peggy.

I thought I told you to have that page memorized, Mike.

Lois, you can't stand three cuts in one week.

Our filling station.

Did you forget your book again, Jim? ? ?

A student's life is busy and active.

Mrs. Marcin's captive audience.

Good men are hard to find.

Slave labor!

Escape ! ! !

What did Sally get?

The stage is set for Baccalaureate.

And it's all mine.

THREE STEPS TO BETTER GRADES

1. Set up a permanent study location.
2. Make work surface light in color, with a flat finish.
3. Provide enough well-diffused light.

(This makes seeing easier, and reduces eye strain, because it prevents sharp shadows and excessive glare.)

More emphasis is being placed on homework today than ever before. A study area with the correct lamp or lighting fixture will help your child read better and do neater work, natural steps to better grades.
